Aviation Tragedy Claims 559 Lives

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Canary Islands (AP) — Officials of the Spanish air ministry said today that at least 559 persons died in the fiery runway collision of two Pan American and KLM jumbo jets preparing to take off from this Atlantic island. It was the worst aviation disaster in history.

Ministry officials working at the Santa Cruz airport said there were 80 survivors from the collision of the two Boeing 747's Sunday afternoon minutes after a heavy fog descended. But these officials said there were a total of 639 passengers and crew members aboard the two planes, while the airlines reported a total of 645 aboard.

All the survivors were aboard the American plane. Most of its passengers were from the West Coast of the United States.

Both planes were on charter flights, loaded with vacationers.

Hospital officials said most of the victims died of burns.

Capt. Victor Grubb, the pilot of the Pan American plane, reported from his bed in Santa Cruz General Hospital that he was taxiing slowly down the main runway at the time of the collision.

"The crew saw nothing right up to the moment of impact," Grubb said.

The Dutch pilot died in the fiery collision, along with the 238 other persons aboard, KLM said. Most of them were Dutch.

Investigators were en route to Tenerife from the United States, the Spanish mainland and the Netherlands to try to determine the cause of the collision. The U.S. Embassy in Madrid sent an eight-man delegation including a doctor, and three U.S. Air Force C130 transports were ordered from bases in Spain and West Germany to the Canaries to help move the dead and injured.

However, the airport at Santa Cruz was closed by stormy weather today. All flights were landing at Las Palmas, on Grand Canary island, and those who could not wait were taking a 50-mile ferry ride to get to Tenerife.

Police and medical workers worked through the storm recovering the shattered remains and trying to identify them. Bodies were being piled in an airport hangar.

Both planes were on charter flights. Aboard the Pan Am plane were 364 passengers who boarded in Los Angeles, 14 who boarded in New York, a crew of 16 and two other Pan Am employees. The airline said the pilot, Capt. Victor Grubb of Centerport, N.Y., and six other crew members were among the survivors.

KLM said most of its passengers were Dutch.

Both planes were bound for Las Palmas, on Grand Canary island 50 miles away, but had been diverted to Tenerife because of a bomb explosion in the flower shop of the Las Palmas airport. A Canary Islands separatist movement claimed responsibility for the bombing, in which eight persons were injured, one of them critically.

The accident occurred at about 4:40 p.m. in a fog that eyewitnesses said cut visibility on the runway to less than 60 feet. Spokesmen for the two airlines said both planes were preparing to take off for Grand Canary, the Pan Am plane taxiing and the KLM plane making its takeoff run at about 150 miles an hour.

The Amsterdam newspaper De Volkskrant said a traffic controller at the Santa Cruz airport told it the Pan Am pilot disregarded the tower's instructions and rolled his plane into the takeoff path of the Dutch plane.

He said the planes crashed practically head-on, De Volkskrant reported.

The worst previous air tragedy was the crash of a Turkish DC10, also a wide-bodied jet, near Paris in March 1974. That killed 346 persons.

Survivors from the Pan Am plane said the force of the collision snapped it into at least three pieces. It was rocked by a series of explosions and was quickly engulfed in flames.

"The whole plane was on fire and people were crying, screaming trying to get out," said James Naik, 37, of Cupertino, Calif. "It was like an electrical shock, it was that fast. Within just a few seconds the metal started to come apart."

Vote Reform Fight Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The stage is set for the legislature's first major partisan fight since the winter natural gas shortage produced this year's show on Statehouse unity over the energy problem.

On Wednesday night, majority Democrats in the Senate are expected to present to the Elections, Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee a subcommittee draft of their big election reform bill.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R7 Cincinnati, already have assailed its major provision—election day registration of voters.

Maloney said it would "make a travesty of the election process" by opening the doors to fraud, the same warning sounded by Brown, the state's top elections official, in testimony earlier this month.

However, the bill gained impetus last week when President Carter sent Congress a similar proposal covering federal elections, and when the Ohio

AFL-CIO, which has close ties to the Democratic leadership, gave it a boost in its "News and Views" publication.

The labor organization labeled as "feeble" the claim by Brown that the bill would lead to fraud. It said the veteran election official uses the claim as "his standard excuse for negativism." Currently, voters must sign up at least 30 days in advance at county elections boards or places designated by them.

"News and Views" noted that the testimony of election officials from three other states with election day registration—Wisconsin, Texas, and Minnesota—was that election day signups produced "no fraud." It also noted that fraud, under the legislation, would constitute a felony punishable by imprisonment.

The AFL-CIO said the reform is badly needed to "stop the dangerous downward trend" of voter participation in Ohio and the United States.

Maloney late last week said that in addition to opening the way for possible fraud, election day registration would make it impossible to cancel the vote of anyone found later to have been ineligible to vote. "Registration before election day is the only way to prevent this occurrence," the Republican leader asserted.

He also said that in counties which still use paper ballots, it would be impossible to project voter turnout so that a correct number could be printed. The only way a county could be safe, he said, would be to print a number of ballots equal to the entire county's 18-and-over population.

Hall's measure also provides other ways to register, by post card and with deputy motor vehicle registrars when renewing a driver's license. Maloney said the post cards represent another potential for fraud, because the secretary of state would have to provide cards "in unlimited quantity to anyone requesting them."

Nardi Named Knight Of Year

KNIGHT OF THE YEAR — Ray Nardi, right, accepts the Knight Of The Year award from Tony Kamler during ceremonies

Saturday night at the 15th annual awards dinner.

Major Ray Nardi was named Knight of the Year during the award dinner Saturday evening in the Officers Club at Rickenbacker Air Base.

Major Nardi was awarded the plaque commemorating the occasion by Tony Kamler, last years Knight of the Year award winner. In making the presentation, Kamler described the many accomplishments Major Nardi had done in the past year.

Over 200 members and their guests paid homage to Council 5297 Knights of Columbus Knight of the Year. The toastmaster for the evening was Darwin Whitehead. The invocation was given by Father Frank Meagher, pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church, and the benediction was given by Father Carl Bagge, Chaplain, Major of Rickenbacker Air Base.

A resume of the council's activities throughout the year was presented by Grand Knight Jay Fath. He also stated as of March 1, the Circleville Council ranked 15th in the State and 2nd in the Dioceses.

Grand Knight Fath also introduced all the Officers of the Council and visiting District Deputy Eddie Jones from Chillicothe. Rickenbacker Air Base Commander Col. James Nouse was introduced by Grand Knight Fath. Col. Nouse gave a rundown of the many different units stationed at the base and the part they played in the defense of our country.

He extended a cordial invitation for the general public to attend the open house to be held at the Rickenbacker Air Base on Sunday, May 29, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be 80-90 of the latest aircraft, the famous Canadian War Birds, 21 Confederate Airplanes from World War II, plus many other exhibitions.

Dick Theis announced the Knight of the Month award winners and receiving the award for March was Tony Kamler.

A special honor was bestowed upon Sheriff Dwight Radcliff as receiving the first Bluecoat of the Year award DOOR-TO-DOOR canvass of homes in Williamsport added $5,000 towards the "Share of the Square" campaign, and workers are still counting the donations. The areas in the village and Deercreek Twp. not contacted Sunday will be called upon by volunteers.

ROUNDTOWN

It is estimated by the Community Square, Inc. that $12,000 has been collected towards the $20,000 price tag on the old school grounds.

In addition to collection efforts Sunday, it was noted that $1,000 contributions have been made by the Williamsport United Methodist Church and the Deercreek Auto Parts.

Weather

Rain, locally heavy at times, with possible thunderstorms today and tonight. High today near 70 with a low tonight in the middle 50s. Partly sunny and warmer Tuesday with a high in the middle 70s. Chances of precipitation, 100 per cent today, 80 per cent tonight and 20 per cent Tuesday. Saturday's high was 64 with a low of 38 while the high Sunday was 71 with a low of 53.

BOOKS ON CANCER — Several books containing information on cancer have been donated by the Pickaway County Chapter of the American Cancer Society to the Pickaway County District Public Library. Making the presentation for the Cancer Society is Mrs. Valarie Minor, R.N., right, to Eleanor Craig, librarian. The books are "The Thinking Man's Guide To Quitting Cigarettes" by Eliot Tozer, "You Can Quit Smoking In 14 Days" by Walter S. Ross, "Make Today Count" by Orville E. Kelly, and "Living With Cancer" by Ernest H. Rosenbaum.

Oscars Scheduled Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It's that time of year again, when nominees for the film industry's highest award wait to see which among them will be called to the stage to be handed a slim gold statuette named Oscar.

The ceremony at the Music Center, for those who in the judgment of their peers contributed the most to the motion picture screen, will be telecast nationally tonight by ABC.

One question was whether the late Peter Finch would be honored for his performance in "Network," the first such posthumous award in the Academy's 49 years.

The "best actor" statuette could also go to Sylvester Stallone, writer and star of the story of a Philadelphia boxer.

At certain time, Stallone and "Rocky" seemed to be the favorites for the big prizes.

Regardless, it didn't appear that the acting Oscar would be spurned as it was in recent years by George C. Scott and Marlon Brando.

All of the living nominees were to be present except the ailing Laurence Olivier. Even publicity-shy Robert DeNiro, nominated as best actor for "Taxi Driver," agreed to attend.

Producer William Friedkin ("The Exorcist") has promised to keep the show moving. The only production number scheduled features Ann-Margret performing a new song, "Magic Circle," at the beginning and end.

Red Skelton was picked to introduce a brief film celebrating 50 years of sound movies, and film clips outlining the career of Pandro S. Berman, winner of the Irving Thalberg award.

Although not nominated for best-actress honors, Barbra Streisand is appearing to perform "Evergreen, Love Theme from 'A Star Is Born.'" Other musical performers of nominated songs are Ben Vereen, Tom Jones, Eddie Albert and Lea Vivante.

ABC is telecasting the ceremonies beginning at 10 p.m. EST. Running time of 2½ hours could be extended by lengthy acceptance speeches.

Nominated for best picture were "All The President's Men," "Bound for Glory," "Network," "Rocky" and "Taxi Driver."

Besides Stallone, DeNiro and Finch, best-actor nominees are William Holden in "Network," and Giancarlo Giannini in "Seven Beauties."

The candidates for best actress: Marie-Christine Barrault, "Cousin Cousine," Faye Dunaway, "Network," Talia Shire, "Rocky," Sissy Spacek, "Carrie," and Liv Ullmann, "Face to Face."

Tea Prices Jump On Escalator

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Coffee drinkers who switched to tea to save money face more bad news. The increased demand for tea has boosted the price, about 10 to 20 per cent in the last couple of months.

Tea is still cheaper than coffee. An Associated Press spot check showed the price is around two cents a cup, compared to six cents and up for coffee.

In most areas, however, a 100-bag box of a national brand of tea sells for just under $2; house brands are less.

The increases reflect recent boosts in wholesale prices on the London tea market. Dealers there say the rises are due mainly to the rising demand for tea as a substitute for increasingly expensive coffee.

The average wholesale price for tea in London was slightly over 77 cents a pound early this month, up from about 50 cents a year ago.

"I do not think we have seen the top of the market," said George Neal, chairman of the Tea Brokers Association. "It's very much a question of supply and demand."

The demand is reflected in stores in the United States.

"Tea sales have increased quite a bit in the past couple of months," said Doug Boudier, manager of the Sunflower Supermarket in Nashville, Tenn. A 100-bag box of a national brand of tea sells for $1.87 in Boudier's store, up from $1.66 several months ago. The house brand is $1.09 for 100 bags.

Stores traditionally have used coffee as a "loss leader," selling it at or even below the wholesale level in an attempt to draw customers to the store. There are indications they may have to do the same with tea.

Neil Golub, executive vice president of Price Chopper Foods Inc. of Schenectady, N.Y., said he is selling a national brand of tea for $1.58 per 100-bag box. He said he pays $1.65 for the tea and added that the wholesale price is going up to $1.80.

Golub was one of the first to urge people to drink less coffee and switch to other beverages. He said sales are down slightly, but added that some people are buying coffee and hoarding it in anticipation of higher prices later on. As for the future, he said: "Consumers don't have a lot of pleasant information to look forward to regarding prices of coffee and tea."

In Seattle, Woodrow White, the buyer for 27 Lucky Food stores, said one national brand of tea was selling at $2.09 for 100 bags, up 20 cents in the past month. Another national brand has remained steady at $1.89, but is expected to increase shortly.

Sam Saporito, a spokesman for the Big Bear chain in Ohio, said he was not running any specials on tea which is "traditionally (a) good seller in winter." He said tea sales have increased slightly as a result of high coffee prices, but added: "Most people who are addicted to coffee don't find tea a good substitute."

It was the second marriage for each of them. The groom wore his bus drivers uniform and the bus line provided the bus free of charge for the evening.

"As a matter of fact," said a company official, "two other couples are soon planning to be married on a bus."

City Bus Wedding Site

CINCINNATI (AP) — A city bus played a major role in the courtship of Ruth Henderson and Roy Young so it was only fitting that's where they should be married.

The couple and wedding party boarded a city bus Saturday and drove to the end of the line where the marriage took place.

"It has significance for Roy and I," the bride said who took her vows while standing in the aisle of the bus.

Young has been a driver for the bus company for about seven years, and since they met at a party a year ago, Ruth had spent many nights waiting for him at the end of his bus route.

It was the second marriage for each of them. The groom wore his bus drivers uniform and the bus line provided the bus free of charge for the evening.

"As a matter of fact," said a company official, "two other couples are soon planning to be married on a bus."

Solons Take Up Reorganization Of Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's request for authority to reorganize the federal government is up for a House vote this week, while the Senate moves toward a final decision on enactment of a new code of ethics.

The House of Representatives is expected to pass the President's reorganization proposal on Tuesday. The measure would allow the President to reorganize government agencies unless his action was vetoed by Congress.

But that presidential authority would stop at the Cabinet level, where Carter plans to combine the government's energy agencies into a new Cabinet department.

That plan requires separate legislation and a House subcommittee planned today to begin hearings into the proposal.

The Senate, which has spent most of the past 10 working days debating and voting on various aspects of its proposed code of ethics, scheduled a final vote for Friday. The next major item of business for the Senate is to be Carter's economic stimulus bill, but it was unclear whether it will come to the floor before or after the ethics code vote.

The House also is preparing to vote on Carter's requests for a one-year extension of authority to create public service jobs.

The jobs bill would extend for a year Carter's authority to create up to 750,000 public service jobs, for which a $6-billion appropriation already has been passed, with $3.8 billion marked for use in fiscal 1978.

Approval also was anticipated for the continuation of the House assassinations committee, which intends to investigate anew the murders of President John F. Kennedy and civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Final action on the new Senate ethics code, a companion piece to one already adopted by the House, was set for Friday after being pushed back repeatedly by extended debate over its controversial features, the main one being a limit on the amount of income senators could earn in addition to their legislative salary.

A host of amendments were rejected last week, and similar action was expected on most of some 28 remaining before the code, given top priority by Senate leaders, comes to a vote.

After the ethics issue is resolved, Senate debate was scheduled to open immediately on the Senate Finance Committee version of President Carter's tax cut proposal. The measure already has passed the House.

The key part of the bill would provide a $50 tax rebate to 200 million Americans this spring. The legislation would permanently cut taxes for 46 million couples or individuals by raising the standard deduction, and would give businesses increased incentive for hiring new workers.

'Russians Coming' In Army Maneuvers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometime within the next year, some Americans may be startled to see Russian tanks rolling across U.S. countryside.

The tanks will be accompanied by soldiers wearing Russian-style uniforms, carrying Soviet AK47 assault rifles and riding in Russian armored personnel carriers.

No matter what it looks like, it won't really be a Russian invasion. It will be part of a training exercise involving the U.S., not the Soviet, Army.

The "Russians" will be part of one of the U.S. Army's special new units, organized to provide more realistic training for fighting what the military likes to call "the potential adversary" — the Soviet army.

While the soldiers will be mock Russians, their equipment will be the real thing, relics of the 1973 Mideast war between Israel and Soviet-supplied Syrian and Egyptian armies.

The Israeli government has given the United States some of the T62 tanks, personnel carriers, artillery, and thousands of smaller arms captured by Israel's forces in the Sinai and Golan Heights battles more than three years ago.

The new training approach was devised, the Army said, because the old system of using simulated "aggressor forces" with American uniforms and arms "didn't provide the realism essential to prepare commanders, noncommissioned officers and soldiers for the next war."

As part of the new "opposing force concept," the individual U.S. soldier will be taught in classrooms and demonstrations about his Soviet counterpart — his characteristics, his probable tactics, how he would use his weapons.

"This program ... gives the soldier a working knowledge of our adversary's vulnerabilities, and trains soldiers and leaders to exploit those weaknesses, to beat them even when outnumbered and outgunned," the Army said.

The concept has been tested in pilot form at Ft. Hood, Tex., and will be spread throughout the Army by late 1978.

Vance Opens Talks With Brezhnev

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev started a quest for a new nuclear arms agreement today with the customary exchange of pleasantries for the benefit of reporters and photographers.

"I am happy to welcome you here," Brezhnev told Vance and congratulated him on his 60th birthday, which he celebrated in Moscow Sunday.

"I bring you the warmest regards from President Carter," Vance responded.

"I send him my heartfelt good wishes," Brezhnev replied.

Vance was accompanied by Paul Warnke, the Carter administration's chief arms negotiator; Deputy Undersecretary of State Philip Habib, William Highland of the National Security Council and Malcolm Toon, the U.S. ambassador to Moscow.

Brezhnev was flanked by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly Dobrynin; Georgy Korniyenko, a deputy foreign minister and disarmament expert, and Oleg Sokolov of the foreign ministry's American department.

Vance told a news conference Sunday that the problems that have blocked conclusion of the second Strategic Arms Limitation Agreement "are something of the past."

President Works 75-80 Hours Weekly

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is a "work horse" who spends more than 70 hours a week on the job without complaining of fatigue, but "we can see it sometimes in his eyes," says a presidential aide.

According to a staff study of the President's first month-and-a-half in office, he has been working 75 to 80 hours a week, compared with a scheduled 55 hours.

Appointments Secretary Tim Kraft, who directed the study as a guide for Carter and his schedulers, said in an interview:

"We can see on paper that he's sometimes overdoing it. We can see it sometimes in his eyes, in signs of fatigue."

But, says Kraft, "You know, he's a work horse. He never complains about work. If he has a complaint, it's about his ability to be efficient and effective and to get through the 'in box.' He never says 'I'm tired' or 'I need a break.'"

But Kraft conceded that Carter did complain once that he had too many scheduled appointments in a single day.

As a result of the study of Carter's activities from Jan. 24 to March 6, additional "contingency time" now is being built into the President's schedule.

Aides also believe Carter is likely to devote more time to domestic affairs in the weeks ahead, and that he will set up more meetings with key members of Congress.

In the six weeks covered by the study, foreign affairs took more of the President's working time than any other category.

Carter is scheduled to work 10 hours a day, Monday through Friday, and five hours on Saturday. The study documented an average 71-hour week that did not include work done in the White House living quarters, where Carter has an office, or during weekend visits to Plains, Ga., and Camp David, Md.

When he first took office, Carter planned to have only two regular daily appointments—with foreign policy adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski and Press Secretary Jody Powell. In addition, he planned regular, although not daily, sessions with Vice President Walter Mondale and weekly meetings with the Cabinet and Democratic congressional leaders.

Nab Aliens In Cushy Jobs

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Two illegal aliens arrested in Indiana in 1976 were earning $25,000 a year apiece at jobs citizens could have held, a U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service official said.

Arnold Nelson, director of the immigration office in Indiana, said those two arrests are extreme examples of the money and jobs lost by the problem of illegal aliens working in the U.S. in general and Indiana in particular.

Nelson estimated that 21,000 illegal aliens are employed in Indiana. He said federal efforts to identify and correct the problem haven't been successful. But he said the problem "makes a hell of a dent in the economy."

Nelson reported 1,500 arrests in Indiana in 1976. Of that number 927 were working in jobs that paid from below $2.50 an hour to $12 an hour. Nelson said 60 per cent of the aliens arrested came from Mexico, but he said 27 other nationalities were represented.

Court Hears Tapes Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to hear former President Richard M. Nixon's arguments against release of 30 White House tape recordings played during the Watergate cover-up trial of his top advisers.

Nixon's appeal asked the court to overturn a decision by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington that the tapes "are no longer confidential" and that copies may be released to the public.

The ex-president's arguments in the lower court lost out to those of the three television networks, public television, a news directors' association and a recording company which want the tapes made available.

In a 2-1 decision last October, the circuit court rejected Nixon's arguments that the tapes' release would invade his privacy and prove embarrassing to him.

"The embarrassment Mr. Nixon fears is not republication of highly personal matters," the court said.

The tapes, transcripts of which were highly publicized during the Watergate trial of John Mitchell, H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Robert Maridian and Kenneth Parkinson, are of conversations within the White House Oval Office.

Tattoo Used To Thank Boss

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Some would do it with a thank-you note, but Marty VanNostran has expressed his gratitude to his employer by tattooing an advertisement for the business across his back.

VanNostran, 27, explained, "This is a kind of an advertisement because I owe an awful lot to Ron (Sherrill), who owns R & R Cycle and Salvage here."

"He's teaching me the business and I've learned a lot from him. I want to see the shop do well," VanNostran said.

It took four hours and $175 — paid by Sherrill — to have a set of Harley-Davidson motorcycle wings and the names of the shop and city tattooed on VanNostran, a salesman at R & R Cycle for the last six months and a motorcycle buff for most of his life.

The tattoo joins six others, including his first, a colorful snake wrapped around a skull with a dagger through it.

A Page Of Opinion

College Cost Squeeze

No parent with a child in college needs to be reminded of the rising costs of higher education. Whether the school is public or private, the cost structure seems to be built on a one-way escalator.

Nor is general inflation entirely the culprit. Colleges and universities seem to have their own built-in inflation. A study by The Conference Board, a private research organization, found the average cost of attending a public school rose from $1,026 for a full-time student in 1967, to $1,708 in 1975. The 1967 cost is expressed in current dollars, which means the effects of inflation in the intervening years has been removed.

For private schools, the picture is no better. For the two years average private school costs increased from $2,124 to $3,592. As might be expected, sharply rising costs have had an effect on the ability of low and middle income families to send their children to college.

The study found families with incomes under $15,000 accounted for 74 per cent of new university enrollees in 1966-1967, but only 43 per cent of the total in 1974-1975. There was a time when higher education was an opportunity only the wealthy could enjoy. The trend of the last decade again points in that direction.

Self-Assessment

By JIM BISHOP

A good man will be respected by everyone except himself. Self-assessment is a discount house. I have never met an intellectual who was not afraid of applause. No man is as great as his adherents think him to be, nor as inconsequential as his conscience tells him he is.

This is the little crack in the sidewalk where our young disappear. In all the centuries I have been alive, I do not recall any generation which keeps asking, "Who am I?" The current one either doubts its identity, or is painfully aware of it.

Either way, men and women — in spite of protestations — always knew who and what they were. A glance in the mirror, a casual adding of virtues and vices, and you have a human who is separate from all others.

Al Capone never doubted who he was. He was a fat kid with enormous greed and a concrete conscience. He knew he was Al all the way. I cannot believe that E. Howard Hunt, the Watergate whiner, was not aware that he and his Cubans were engaged in a burglary.

If Thomas Jefferson doubted his identity and his ability, would he have written the Declaration of Independence alone? He was, you recall, only 33. His finest work, his best thinking, lay ahead of him.

I tire of listening to men and women on television talk shows who are still trying "to find themselves." Freddie Prinze knew who he was. He didn't like the image or the payoff. So he blew his head off.

Confidence doesn't kill people; doubt does. Some distrust themselves, even at the height of success. Eugene O'Neill, great American playwright, could never decipher who he was. He wrote:

"None of us can help the things life has done to us. They're done before you realize it, and once they're done they make you do other things until at last everything comes between you and what you'd like to be, and you have lost your true self forever."

Having read a lot of O'Neill, I feel that the true self he sought to be was a nut. Perhaps Napoleon captured a better thought when he wrote: "Men take only their needs into consideration — never their abilities."

Needs is a poor word. He probably meant aspirations, because there is a sea of problems between aspirations and abilities. Girls with buck teeth and acne want to be movie stars. Boys who cannot add mother's grocery list aspire to be physicists.

We should play the game within our competence. We spend at least 20 years learning. In that span we should realize that, without strain or deceit, we will make successful plumbers or writers or physicians or perhaps drive the best sanitation truck in the world.

My quarrel with the "identity crisis" is that the young people of today are postponers. They will attend college forever if only dad will excuse them from making a commitment. They will get credits for taking courses in Alaskan dog sledding, coeducational wrestling, and how to peel a banana with one hand behind the back.

Many have no goal except more study. The academic life is cloistered. There are few risks, and father will pay the bills. One is expected to spend less time on Chaucer and more on Hustler. Slowly, inexorably, authors such as Laurence J. Peter, who wrote "Peter's Quotations," are coming around to believe that our young people have started an "I Want" generation.

In my family, there was little "I want" because no one could afford it. I worked in the summer when I was 14. My father started weeding on a farm when he was nine. Mom worked in a silk mill at 14. If we wanted additional schooling, we followed dad's example: go at night.

Nor did we feel deprived. Each, in turn, had a sensation of being grown up when the head of the family said, "How about looking for work?" There was only one requisite to all this: Throughout the family, we delivered the pay envelope to mother, intact and sealed.

We not only knew who we were — which was not much — but we knew who owed us and how much. None of us were slow in asserting ourselves and grabbing what belonged to us. It was our jungle.

It is possible that Eleanor Roosevelt, both a princess and a statesman, said it all: "I think somehow, we learn who we really are and then live with that decision." ...

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

Legislation revising delinquent property tax payment requirements and legislation establishing a committee to inspect penal institutions were among the recent bills approved by the Ohio House and sent to the Senate.

The delinquent tax bill, House Bill 203, was passed Wednesday by a 90 to 0 vote.

Sponsored by Representative Harry Lehman (Cleveland), House Bill 203 would permit payment of delinquent, first-half real estate taxes without having to make payment of second-half taxes at the same time.

Under current law, property taxes are collected for half-year periods, January through June (first-half collection) and July through December (second-half collection). If a taxpayer misses the deadline for the first-half collection, under current law he is subject to a ten per cent penalty and is required to pay the second-half taxes in full even though the deadline for second-half collections may not have passed.

For example, in County X the first-half taxes are due February 20th. A homeowner owes $250 for the first-half collection and cannot pay until March, after the deadline. In this hypothetical case, if the homeowner tries to pay his taxes in March he must pay $250, plus $25 as a penalty, plus $250 for the second-half collection even though the taxes for the second-half collection are not due until August 20th.

Under House Bill 203, a taxpayer who misses the first-half collection due date would be subject to the ten per cent penalty, but would not have to pay the second-half taxes until they are due.

The legislation creating a prison inspection panel, House Bill 305, was approved Wednesday by a tally of 88 to 8 and is sponsored by Representative C. J. McLin (Dayton).

If enacted, the bill would establish the State Correctional Institution Inspection Committee consisting of eight legislators, four from the House and four from the Senate. Four of the members would be Democrats and four would be Republicans giving the committee bipartisan balance.

Under House Bill 305, the committee would be required to maintain a continuing inspection program of all state and local correctional facilities. The committee would also be required to assist in developing programs to improve the conditions and operations of correctional facilities and prepare reports for the General Assembly.

The inspection committee legislation is in response to the need of the General Assembly to obtain firsthand information about Ohio's correctional facilities in order to better assess the facilities' requirements.

Girl Scouts Discontented Over ERA

CINCINNATI (AP) — There's been some angry talk around local campfires since the National Board of Girl Scouts of the USA endorsed the Equal Rights Amendment.

Since that action in January, the Great Rivers Girl Scout Council board of directors — which supervises 21,000 scouts in nine counties in Ohio and Indiana — has followed suit.

Their actions have drawn angry reactions from some local girl scout leaders and sponsors.

The Our Mother of Sorrows Parish Council in suburban Roselawn has approved a resolution denying use of parish facilities to scout troops "until such time as the local units have assurance their name, funds and support will not be used to further the ends of those seeking the ERA."

One scout leader is threatening to pull her troop out of Girl Scouts and establish it as an independent girls group if the regional council does not cease its support of the ERA.

Fifty Brown County, Ohio, volunteer workers are refusing to sign a volunteer agreement demanded by the Great Rivers board. The agreement says the volunteer will support policies of the council, and the volunteers think the agreement is connected with the ERA.

Great Rivers executive director Barbara O'Byrne said only "two or three" of the 92 neighborhoods under council control are real trouble spots.

If the council critics are few, they are certainly vocal and either are opposed to the proposed constitutional amendment itself or opposed to the Girl Scouts getting involved in politics.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Many people in my age group talk about the by-pass operation of the heart. My friends and I are all in the 60 to 70 age group. I can't seem to find any non-technical information about this operation. I am not sick, but would like to know about it.

Mr. K. C. J., Pa.

Dear Mr. J.:

The "by-pass" operation of the heart is one of the great contributions of modern science to patients suffering from anginal pains in the heart.

The operation is carefully selected only after intensive studies. The risks are carefully balanced against its advantages.

To understand the by-pass operation you should know something about the way the heart functions.

Coronary arteries normally bring blood and oxygen to the heart muscle. The heart muscle itself is only as good as its own blood supply. When the coronary arteries are narrowed by arteriosclerosis, the heart muscle cries out in pain for more blood and oxygen. This is known as "angina pectoris."

When one of these arteries closes off completely, a portion of the heart muscle, deprived of its blood and oxygen, becomes weakened, and the so-called "heart attack" occurs.

With all the great wisdom of our bodies, the heart muscle has not been as well provided as other organs when there is a need for additional support.

It is for this reason that the by-pass operation was created. Its purpose is to bring additional blood and oxygen to the heart muscle when the coronary arteries are inadequate.

The operation is performed by removing a large vein from the leg and inserting it into the heart muscle. In this way, blood is enroute around the closed coronary artery, and thus "bypasses" that defective artery.

Highly trained surgeons all over the country are performing this remarkable and delicate surgery and releasing people from the painful devastation of angina.

All my friends seem to have their own favorite tranquilizers. Is there one that is any better than the next?

Miss R. E., R.I.

Dear Miss E.:

The best way of becoming tranquil is to pinpoint the cause of one's anxiety, and eliminate it. This requires discussion with your doctor, with a psychologist or psychiatrist. The crutch offered by a tranquilizing drug often avoids this important confrontation.

Tranquilizers and mood elevators are excellent drugs when individually prescribed and used for short periods of time. The practice of buying tranquilizers and trading them with friends is a dangerous game.

Spider Eggs Rumor Hurting Gum Sales

NEW YORK (AP) — The makers of "Bubble Yum" are hoping that a media blitz and a private detective can scotch a schoolyard rumor that their gum contains spider eggs.

"It's really a little early to know whether we've put the rumor to bed or not," William Morris, president of Life Savers, which makes the gum, said Friday. "We've already had a couple of favorable letters from mothers thanking us."

The company took out full page ads Wednesday in 30 newspapers in the metropolitan New York area, where the rumor has been nurtured for a month or so. "Someone is telling your kids very bad lies about a very good gum," the ad in The New York Times told parents.

Life Savers also sent letters to Parent Teacher Associations and school principals. It even hired a detective to find the source — but he hasn't.

"We're trying to treat it as a calm business experience," Morris said. "We would like to track this down. And if we could stop the rumor at its source, no children would be frightened and we could get back to business as normal."

An apparently typical schoolyard sentiment was voiced by Lynn Lelew, a sixth grader at Central Elementary School in East Brunswick, N.J.

"My friend said it had spider eggs in it," said Lynn, who first heard the rumor in mid-February. Lynn isn't so sure, and her father told her it wasn't true. But about 30 of the 90 kids in her class believe it, she said.

"I don't even know what spider eggs look like," confessed a spokesman for the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, D.C., which investigates such things.

At the American Museum of Natural History in New York, an entomologist said spiders lay 200 to a thousand eggs in a silk bag that is intricately constructed.

"They stand guard over them very jealously," she said, adding that it was highly unlikely that spider eggs would get into bubble gum — or into anything else unless they were put there on purpose.

"Even if they were I can't believe they'd do any harm to anybody," she said. "After all the spiders are edible, so why not their eggs? I'd certainly, probably, rather eat spider eggs than bubble gum."

The company says each batch of "Bubble Yum" is inspected 89 times to "insure the wholesomeness, cleanliness, purity and goodness of every piece."

Workshop Eyes Free Enterprise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An April 4 workshop here sponsored by the Ohio Newspapers Foundation and Ohio Newspaper Association will look into the future of freedom of enterprise in America.

Alex Machaskee, assistant to the publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, said the workshop will be the first in a series to learn how freedom of the press and free enterprise can be improved as America moves into its third century.

Cincinnati Enquirer President William J. Keating will preside at the session at the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow.

Speakers will include Dr. Richard Landry, administrative director of economic policy for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce; Robert Lazarus Jr., of Lazarus stores in Columbus; Robert Griffin, marketing vice president of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio); and George Greenleaf, executive vice president of Ohio Grain, Feed and Fertilizer Federation in Columbus.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources, through the Division of Parks and Recreation, pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of Section 1501.09 and 1501.10 of the Ohio Revised Code, proposes to lease for the operation of a marine (boat rental) and refreshment concession at A.W. Marion State Park in Pickaway County, Ohio.

Official bid proposals will be received in the Division of Parks and Recreation, Concession Section, until 2:00 p.m., April 11, 1977. Bids will be publicly opened thereafter by the Chief of the Division of Parks and Recreation or his authorized agent. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

The lease will be for a term of four (4) years and eight (8) months from April 15, 1977 to December 31, 1981.

The Division of Parks and Recreation will furnish: One frame concession building approximately 14 by 22 feet and assigned land and shoreline, and 16 rowboats with oars. The Concessionaire will furnish all equipment, materials, merchandise, supplies, utilities, labor, etc., necessary to operate the concession to approved standards.

The minimum period of operation will be April 15 to October 15.

Requests for bid proposal forms should be made to the Division of Parks and Recreation, Concession Section, Fountain Square, Building C, Third Floor, Columbus, Ohio 43224. Telephone (614) 466-3277.

They'll Do It Every Time

Inner Peace Movement Stresses Communication

INNER PEACE LEADERS — Sue Kensinger, left, is regional director of the Inner Peace Movement, and Elena Boles is the promotion leader for the State of Ohio. They will present a lecture 8 p.m. Tuesday at the L-K Restaurant.

The Inner Peace Movement will be explained in an 8 p.m. Tuesday lecture at the L-K Restaurant.

The IPM, a non-profit educational development program offers tools and techniques for "people to unfold themselves" according to Regional Director Sue Kensinger. IPMers learn to "quit complicating" their lives.

The program founded 12 years ago by Francisco Cole attempts to balance the spiritual mental and physical properties of personal growth by relying on varying levels of interpersonal communication as expounded by the late Swiss psychologist Carl Jung.

Jung stressed communication by visionary means by intuition, by feeling, and by prophetic powers.

Visionaries rely on their visual perception, she said, and are able to glimpse future events when their talents are extended.

Intuitive persons, the "Born leaders", are concerned with words and thoughts. When extended, they are more sensitive to the spoken words of others.

Touch-oriented persons are conscious of others by their feeling. Natural healers, they have an affinity for the environment.

And prophetic persons simply "know things," she said.

"Everyone has the ability to communicate on all of these levels," said Ms. Kensinger, who claims that life is "a riot when we can clean-up our regular, normal verbal communication."

The trick, she said, is to start with what is good about a person and build from there. "We stress reacting instead of acting."

She is quick to point out that IPM is not an alternative to religion, but rather a clarifying principle. "Once we find out about ourselves and learn to grow within ourselves, we become sincere and open," she said.

Relaxation is a key to the program, she said.

Techniques of employing IPM methods will be explained at follow-up lectures. However, she said that the program is voluntary and that IPM involvement is only to provide a means for personal growth.

Persons of all ages are invited to participate. Sex or profession have no bearing on the program, she said.

Ms. Kensinger, who was a school teacher, now teaches child guidance at Ohio State University, where she is working toward a doctorate in the field.

T.V. Independent Study Offered At Ohio University

ATHENS, Ohio — A six-week film series on the American short story to be shown on public television will be the basis of an independent study telecourse offered by Ohio University.

The series will be shown nationwide on Public Broadcasting Service stations. Nine films will be presented on six consecutive Tuesdays on WOUB-WOUC-TV (Channels 20-44) beginning April 5 at 8 p.m. Interested viewers in other areas can check local PBS listings for exact dates and times of airing.

The films to be shown are: "Soldier's Home," by Ernest Hemingway; "Almos' a Man," by Richard Wright; "Parker Adderson, Philosopher," by Ambrose Bierce; "The Jolly Corner," by Henry James; "The Blue Hotel," by Stephen Crane; "The Displaced Person," by Flannery O'Connor; and "The Music School," by John Updike.

The films were produced by Learning in Focus, Inc., with a grant of more than $2 million from the National Endowment for the Humanities. They feature such actors as Ron Howard, who stars in "Happy Days," and LeVar Burton, who played in "Roots."

Scripts for the teleplays were written by authors such as Ron Cowen and Leslie Lee, both Obie Award winning playwrights; Harry Petrakis, an award winning novelist and Emmy Award winner; and Horton Foote, who wrote the screenplay for "To Kill a Mockingbird."

According to Robert Geller, executive producer and president of Learning in Focus, Inc., the films are not merely adaptations or interpretations of the short stories, but are as nearly as possible the short stories themselves on film. The project, said Geller, has stressed fidelity to the author.

The telecourse will include readings of the short stories from which the films were made and critical essays on their relationships to the short story as a literary form.

"The American Short Story," English 271B, is offered through OU's Independent Study Program. The course is open nationwide to any individual who wishes to take it, and may interest high school students who want to begin college work early.

Those enrolling will receive a copy of the short stories, a collection of essays about the short story, and a study guide to help relate the television dramatizations to the stories and critical essays.

Course work includes written lessons and a short paper. There will be no

Hoosier Becomes School Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Franklin B. Walter has taken a job he's been preparing for nearly seven years but says he hasn't actively sought.

The 47-year-old Indiana native succeeds his boss, Martin W. Essex, who served Ohio as superintendent of public instruction for 10 years, longer than anyone else.

Added to his new status in the state's education community is a near-$13,000 salary boost to $50,000 a year.

"I doubt it will change our lifestyle much," Franklin says, "except that I'll spend more time working. We enjoy our home, our church, swimming and boating when we have time."

Franklin sounds, after a couple of weeks in office, like an old hand with high finances evidently consuming many thoughts.

The number one problem he faces as top administrator of all Ohio public schools?

"School financing is the overriding problem. Right now we are embarking on a study of the equity of the school foundation program. The equity of funding is the biggest question."

How does he see the Ohio school system preparing students for the world, the complexities of which may hardly be predicted?

"We have to prepare youngsters for lifelong learning. To do that you must provide youngsters with competence with basic skills. You must also provide the instruction and a desire to continue learning."

Franklin, who has served as Westlake superintendent and won the E.E. Lewis award in school administration from Ohio State University in 1962, stresses basics in education and parent involvement.

National figures, he says, show reading skills improving. That fact added to the Ohio strategy of "Moving back, as we should be in my opinion, toward urging parents to become vitally concerned with and involved in the learning of their youngsters" make him optimistic and public education in the state.

"The home setting, expectations and assistance, is important and can change a youngster's success in school."

Integration rulings will not affect education quality adversely, he contends, because the Ohio public school curriculum has been broadened sufficiently "...to give each youngster a chance to meet his potential."

Walter has also assumed his duties as negotiator-arm twister in squeezing equal yield funding out of the governor and the legislature. He claims the state must provide 70 per cent of the equal yield formula in the next school year and 100 per cent of the plan the year after.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget proposal contains only enough for 35 per cent in the coming year and 50 per cent the next session.

The equal yield program is an attempt to provide sufficient state funds to equalize the per-student spending between rich and poor districts.

Couple Celebrates Wedding Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. SANDY LEMASTER

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Lemaster were guest of honor at a surprise party hosted by their children, March 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McFerren, Stoutsville in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Norfus (Sandy) Lemaster and Mary D. Smith were married March 18, 1952 in Ashville.

They are the parents of Misses Sally and Shirley Lemaster and Richard of Circleville, Mrs. John (Sandy) McFerren, Stoutsville and Mrs. Tim (Sharon) Pittenger, Grissom AFB, Indiana. One daughter, Linda, is deceased. They have two granddaughters, Jodi Pittenger and Carrie Lemaster.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Forget Trial Basis And Take The Trip

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 36 years. He is 64 and I am 57. There has been no sex in our bedroom for the last six or seven years. Not even any signs of affection. He has even refused to kiss me, saying I would only expect it to lead to something else, and he is impotent and can't deliver.

Now it turns out that he has found another woman and wants a "trial separation". He leased an apartment for six months and he's living with her on a "trial basis". He says at the end of the six months he'll let me know whether he wants me or her.

The other woman is 38 and divorced, and you can't tell me that she's satisfied to just hold hands every night. I asked him about his "impotency" and he said the doctor gave him some pills that are supposed to rejuvenate him sexually. Naturally I don't know if the pills are working. (Maybe I should ask his new friend?) I have talked to an attorney and he gave me the name of a psychiatrist. I am NOT crazy. I just want to know if I should wait six months or force a decision.

If he decides to stay with her, I want to go on a cruise around the world. The ship sails in June and I don't want to miss it. What should I do?

ELSIE

DEAR ELSIE: Don't hang around waiting for your husband to decide whether he wants you or not. Get on that ship and Bon Voyage!

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think a girl should be before she starts seeing a gynecologist and stops seeing a pediatrician? This is a point of disagreement between my mother and me and we would like to settle it by asking you.

HONOLULU GIRL

DEAR GIRL: When a girl reaches the age where she feels uncomfortable seeing a pediatrician and prefers to see a gynecologist, she's ready to switch.

DEAR ABBY: Just before Christmas I read a letter in your column signed TOO LATE from a man who never found time to visit his elderly parents, even though they lived nearby. He said he always found time to visit friends and go other places, and now that his parents are dead he had deep regrets.

I must have had a guilty conscience, because one night I awakened suddenly at 3 a.m., decided to cancel the plans I had already made for Christmas and went to my parents' house instead.

Abby, it was the most wonderful Christmas I've ever had! Mom and Dad were so thrilled to see me, it made me ashamed.

The next morning, my father called to tell me that Mom had died in her sleep! She had been so well and happy the night before.

I just want to thank you for printing that letter. If I hadn't read it, I would have continued in my selfish ways and missed spending my mother's last evening with her. God bless you.

MIXTURE OF HERBS — Making bath powder from a mixture of herbs, is left, Mrs. Charles Gerhardt, Mrs. Thomas Downing, and Mrs. Frank McKay.

Herb Program Is Presented

The monthly meeting of The Gardenwood Club was held, March 23 at the home of Mrs. William Geddis. Mrs. Howard Davies and Mrs. Robert Scherer served as co-hostesses.

The program was given by Mrs. Thomas Downing, Mrs. Charles Gerhardt and Mrs. Frank McKay. They went into the background, history and use of many herbs. Members were able to view many herbs and taste the herbs used in the refreshments.

Mrs. Charles Bracket, President, presided over the business meeting. She announced the trip to Hocking Hills on May 10 and urged members to attend.

Members were given information on the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, Spring Regional meeting to be held, May 5, at Jackson, Ohio, and the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs Exhibitors' and Judges Elementary School to be held in Columbus, April 19 and 20.

A letter was read from the Pickaway Historical Society Board granting Gardenwood Club approval for the planting and caring of an old fashion herb garden to be located on the grounds of the Historical Society building.

Mrs. Paul Sarchet, membership chairman, presented our newest member Mrs. Jean Holycross, a book "Propagating House Plants" and welcomed her into the club. The evening ended with games and prizes under the direction of Mrs. Tony Contino and Mrs. Phillip Leahy.

Mrs. Dennis Johnson, Mrs. Paul Berrigan, and Mrs. James Stoneburner were elected to the nominating committee.

The next meeting will be held, April 27, at the home of Mrs. Paul Sarchet. The program will feature a Naturalist from the Ohio State Department of Natural Resources.

Air Service Set For 8 Ohio Cities

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Eight Ohio cities have been named in service expansion plans filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board by Federal Express Corp., an air freight delivery service.

The company now offers overnight, door-to-door service to some 130 major cities. Inclusion of the Ohio points and others in Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia will bring the total to 250. Ohio cities listed in the CAB filing are Middletown, Lima, Mansfield, Marietta, Newark, Steubenville, Warren, and Youngstown.

Wedding forms may be obtained at The Herald from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturday.

It would be helpful to have the wedding form completed and returned with a picture three days before the wedding.

The Herald will make every effort to publish the story and picture on the next day of publication following the wedding providing the forms and picture are returned before the wedding.

No bridal pictures and stories will be accepted if submitted later than 30 days following the ceremony.

Stephen Glasgow Is Winner Of County Spelling Bee

up; Stephen Glasgow, Logan Elm Schools, champion; Jennifer Sunderman, Teays Valley Schools, runner-up.

Stephen Glasgow, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Glasgow, 8255 Winchester Southern Rd., Stoutsville, was named champion of the Pickaway County School District spelling bee held recently.

Glasgow, who is in the eighth grade at the McDowell Exchange School, won the spelling competition in the Logan Elm School District and went on to defeat his challengers from the Westfall and Teays Valley School Districts.

The runner-up from Westfall Schools is Julie Cupp, 10, a fifth grade student at Jackson Twp. Elementary School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cupp, 26240 Rector Rd., Williamsport.

Jennifer Sunderman, 13, is the other runner-up. She attends seventh grade in the Teays Valley district and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sunderman, 9906 Winchester Rd., Groveport.

According to E. Miller Hundley, intermediate supervisor of Pickaway County Schools, Glasgow will compete with students from other school districts for the state championship April 30 at the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow on the Ohio State University campus.

The winner of this contest will travel to Washington D.C. for national competition as the guest of Scripps-Howard Newspapers which sponsors the annual competition.

Two Local Students Attended Science Symposium

ATHIENS — Nearly 300 high school students and teachers attended the 15th annual Ohio Jerry Acker Junior Science and Humanities Symposium held recently in Columbus.

Paul Cahill of Akron East High School won the first place trophy which qualified him for the national symposium at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point May 4-7. His research involved "A Study of Non-Keplerian Satellite Dynamics."

Accompanying Cahill to West Point will be the Ohio JSHS director, Dr. Ray Skinner, Jr., a professor of education at Ohio University.

Four other students will attend the national symposium as delegates from Ohio. They are Dwayne Simmons, St. Francis De Sales High School, Toledo; and Edmond Ritter, Alan Wayne and Firth Griffith, all of Walnut Hills High School in Cincinnati.

Also at the symposium, the JSHS board for next year was elected. Board members and their districts from this area are: Anita Dean, Laurelville, representing District Seven from Logan Elm High School and Mark LaRue, Stoutsville attending Amanda-Clearcreek High School. He represents the Eighth District.

Glenn Unveils Mobile Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, unveiled his mobile office Saturday, saying it will provide constituents in outlying areas of the state handy access to his fulltime service offices.

Glenn said no additional federal funds had to be appropriated to operate the mobile office. Under a 1975 change in the law, he said, senators can elect to use part of their office expenses allowance for in-state office space for such vehicles.

Pickaway Scout Show Is A Huge Success

The largest group of Scouts ever to participate in a single event in Pickaway County gathered Saturday at the 4-H and Grange Building on the Pickaway County Fairgrounds for the First Annual Pickaway District Scout Show. Sixteen different units set up displays and booths to show the public what Scouting is all about. Over 400 people attended Saturday's show.

The displays ranged from finger-printing to pioneering knots and fun in Cubbing. The Order of the Arrow had a display of Indian Lore including two live Indians who attended the show. Units throughout the county participated in the show.

The show chairman was Hal Whitfield who also serves as District Scout Chairman. The Circleville Kiwanis Club sponsored the show in cooperation with the Pickaway District Scouting Committee. The Kiwanis Club provided both financial support and manpower. The Key Club also provided judges for the Pinewood Derby.

The Pinewood Derby was one of the highlights of the event. Over sixty Cub Scouts competed with model cars

Sisters Killed

BEACHWOOD, Ohio (AP) — Two teenaged sisters were killed in a pre-dawn fire which destroyed their home here.

Fire officials said flames were shooting from first-floor windows when they arrived shortly before daybreak. The bodies of Helene Moritz, 15, and her sister, Debbie, 19, were inside.

Officials said an investigation was continuing into the cause of the blaze.

The girls' parents were on a trip at the time and a brother also was away from the home, fire officials said.

Elementary Spring Concert Slated Friday

Over 75 students in grades four, five and six in the Circleville City Schools will present their annual spring concert Friday in the Mill Street Gymnasium.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public with no admission charge.

Directors of the concert will be Paul Dunkle, Deborah Fannin and Gertrude Young, music instructors in the school system.

The theme of the program is "A Concert of Music Favorites" and will include selections by the choirs and by the fifth grade band and the sixth grade band. The chosen numbers include songs from the regular classroom lessons as well as songs for the program.

The combined choirs will perform the theme song "Sing" and will conclude the program with "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" with accompaniment by the sixth grade band.

This spring program was begun in 1965 with only a choral program and has enlarged to the current format with selections by the all-city bands in grades five and six.

Science Teachers Attend Seminar

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 5,000 science teachers are gathered here to gain some insights about their profession from noted experts such as anthropologist Margaret Mead, Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the polio vaccine, and psychologist B.F. Skinner.

Mrs. Mead told the National Science Teachers Association convention, which meets here through Tuesday, that science today is the study of the dead.

"Dead stars, dead rocks and dead dogfish," she concluded in her talk to the convention Saturday. "The most potent way to interest students in science is to introduce them to living things...let them see how they relate to other living things."

Science teaching in the United States is not in a very good state, she concluded, partly because of the decline of American education in general and partly because of misconceptions about science itself.

The misconception about science goes back to the study of death, she said. Too often science research into the unknown is confused with the death-dealing technology of atomic bombs and air pollution, she said.

Mrs. Mead, Dr. Salk and Skinner compared thoughts on a variety of questions during a roundtable discussion Saturday.

Dr. Salk and Mrs. Mead agreed that given communication and participation in a positive manner, people could work together to solve their problems.

Skinner however warned that time was running out.

"We don't have that time," warned Skinner citing the fact that car pooling efforts quickly were abandoned when gasoline became available again.

"That's because people learned that it was phony," countered Mrs. Mead, who blamed the federal government for "pitting the states against each other."

Five People Injured In Accidents

Five people were injured in two Saturday traffic mishaps which were investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Two were hurt in a single car accident 12:30 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of Route 56 and Blain Road.

Lucile Colter, 60, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was admitted to Madison County Hospital for treatment of a fractured left ankle and Virgil Brown, 66, Washington C. H., was treated for a forehead laceration.

They were passengers in a car driven by Isaac J. Lightler Jr., 45, Washington C. H.

Lightler was driving southeast on Route 56 when he failed to negotiate an uphill curve to the right. His car went left of the center line and crashed into a fence row and ditch.

Lightler was charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Marvin Rhoads, 42, Route 3, and his sons Jim, 12, and Jamie, 11, were hurt 5:45 p.m. Saturday when their farm tractor overturned on the Florence Chapel Pike, a half mile east of the Commercial Point Road.

Rhoads, who was pinned momentarily under the tractor, suffered a broken collar bone. His sons were treated for multiple lacerations and contusions.

Deputy Bill Carmean said Rhoads was driving his 1948 model Farmall tractor mounted with a corn picker west on the Florence Chapel Pike with his two sons riding as passengers.

As he was changing seats to allow Jamie Rhoads to operate the tractor, the corn picker swung to the right and became tangled with a wire mesh guardrail.

The tractor rolled off the right side down a 40 foot embankment and destroyed 20 feet of farm fence owned by Maynard Warner, Route 3.

State Prisons Become Classrooms

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's state prisons have become classrooms for University of Akron law students, and inmates are benefitting as well.

The students are participating in an inmate assistance program, helping prisoners at six state reformatories with legal problems, while gaining practical experience in interviewing and use of the law themselves.

The program, operating on a small grant from the National Student Bar Association, which last year named it the best of its kind in the country, provides inmates unable to afford lawyers a much-appreciated service.

Jody R., is one of those at Ohio Women's Reformatory in Marysville, who is using the program.

"The main thing I want to talk to you about is whether I can get my two-year sentence modified," she told law student Ron Smith. "I'm here on a drug charge. I know the law has been changed but nobody ever pulled my prison record to revise it."

Smith assured her he'd check on her case and send her a letter of his findings.

"There is no resident attorney at Marysville," said Shirley Cool, a second year night law student and student director of the inmate assistance program. "They have a fair library, but because of security can rarely use it."

The students visit Marysville the only prison for female felons in Ohio, once a month. They go to the reformatory at Mansfield twice a month and the other state prisons at Lucasville, Chillicothe, Marion and London at least once a year.

Braves Open Baseball Season; Split With Madison Plains Eagles

Logan Elm opened the baseball season Saturday at Madison Plains, splitting a doubleheader with the hosts. The Braves were edged, 3-2, in the opener but came back to win the second game, 7-5.

Tim Justus started the first game and was tagged with the loss. He pitched four innings, fanned two and walked four. Lynn Strehle relieved him, fanning four and walking one in two innings. They allowed three hits.

The winning pitcher was Reynolds. He was relieved in the fifth inning by Sullivan. They gave up four hits, fanned four and walked two.

The Braves scored one run in the fourth inning when Strehle singled, advanced to second on a balk and crossed the plate on Chuck Cave's single. The run in the seventh was a solo homer by Jeff Collins over the right centerfield fence. The Braves had a big opportunity in the fifth when they loaded the bases with nobody out, but a pop fly and two force outs ended their hopes.

Madison Plains scored one in the third, one in the fourth and one in the fifth.

In the second game, Tony Crist went all the way, fanning four, walking seven and allowing five hits.

The Braves' bats came to life in the second as they cracked 14 hits off four Madison Plains hurlers. Willis started for the Golden Eagles and was given the loss. Relievers were Sullivan, Sifrit and Beckman. They fanned three and walked two.

LE jumped out ahead in the top of the first with a 3-run effort. Randy Pontius got things started with a single. He scored on a hit and run double by Strehle. Cave's single advanced Strehle to third and he scored on a single by Crist and Cave scored on a balk.

In the top of the fifth the Braves added two more runs. Mike Davis led off with a single, Tom Congrove reached first on a fielder's choice and Jerry Scanlan singled to load the bases. Strehle walked to force in Davis. Then with two outs, Scanlan and Strehle both scored on an error. In the seventh the Braves added an insurance run on consecutive singles by Strehle, Mark Skinner and Collins.

The Golden Eagles scored one run in the bottom of the second and four in the bottom of the sixth.

Madison Plains now has a 2-1 record while the Braves are 1-1 for the season.

"I wasn't unhappy with the way we played Saturday," Logan Elm coach Vic Pontius said. "They had already played and beaten London, and for our first time out we didn't look too bad."

"It was a real good defensive day. They had three double plays and we had two double plays," he said.

Wednesday the Braves will host Zane Trace.

Gale Catlett Coach Of Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gale Catlett, whose University of Cincinnati Bearcats won the Metro Conference championship for the second straight season, has been named the 1977 Ohio College Basketball Coach of the Year.

The 36-year-old Catlett was selected in the Columbus Dispatch's annual poll in which 40 college basketball coaches around the state participated. He received 27 first place votes, eight second-place and seven third-place.

Jim Burson, who led Muskingum College to the Ohio Conference championship, finished second in the balloting.

The Bearcats, 25-5 for the season, advanced to the NCAA tournament for the third straight year, but were beaten by Marquette in the first round. Catlett concludes his fifth year at Cincinnati with a career mark of 109-34 for a .762 percentage.

He is the third Cincinnati coach to win the award. Cincinnati's Ed Jucker won in 1963 and George Smith in 1958. Bob Hamilton, formerly at Wittenberg and now at Navy, was the 1976 basketball coach of the year.

Catlett will receive a plaque and the university a rotating trophy.

Marquette, North Carolina In NCAA Final

ATLANTA (AP) — After slowing down Nevada-Las Vegas, North Carolina, will try to speed up Marquette. That's Coach Dean Smith's plan for the NCAA basketball championship game tonight.

Al McGuire's game plan is much simpler — go for the head.

"You've got to cut off the head for the body to die," says the Marquette coach.

Translated, that means Marquette will have to decapitate Phil Ford.

"Ford's dynamite," said McGuire.

"No one will ever know the full value of North Carolina's 'four-corner offense' until Ford leaves. We'll have to short-stop Ford. We'll have to be very patient."

Patience, of course, is the virtue that got Marquette into tonight's big contest at the Omni, which starts at 8:15 p.m. EST. The seventh-ranked Warriors play painstaking basketball, calculating each move on the court with computer-like efficiency.

This tedious, deliberate style paid off in Saturday's semifinals, when the Warriors nipped North Carolina-Charlotte 51-49 on Jerome Whitehead's last-second shot.

Smith, whose fifth-ranked team held Nevada-Las Vegas to its second lowest point total of the season in Saturday's 84-83 victory, is cognizant of the Marquette tempo.

McKinley Wins Cage Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — They're listening to Jene Davis now.

"I'm not crazy. I knew what I was saying when I said I wanted to play Barberton," said Davis.

His Columbus LindenMcKinley players backed their coach's brash words with an 80-74 dismantling of Barberton's 51-game winning streak, extended their own unbeaten spell of 26 games.

It ended the Magics' dream of a second successive Ohio Class AAA boys high school basketball title Saturday and was their first loss in 26 games this winter.

For Davis, 30, it was his second state championship in a three-season career. He's reached the state tournament each year, unparalleled in Ohio history.

Cleveland Latin's coach, Don Gacey,

Professional Softball Schedule Approved

The Columbus All Americans' 1977 major league softball schedule is official, announced today by General Manager Ken Laird.

The All Americans open the season on Sunday, May 29 and Monday, May 30 with back-to-back doubleheaders against the Cleveland Jaybirds. Game times respectively for the weekend frustrated as a player for the Lions in the state semifinals 20 years ago, drifted on cloud nine after Latin, 24-2, nudged Columbus Mifflin 69-65.

"It's tougher as a coach," conceded Gacey, who scored eight points in a semifinal loss to Kent Roosevelt in 1957. "I'm still in a state of shock. I haven't had time to get the full impact."

And George Hamlin, the blunt talking coach of Class A king Fort Loramie, 20-8, has convinced his players of self confidence. "I think after today's championship," he said, "they just might have it."

After a 63-50 rout of 22-5 Mansfield St. Peter's, Hamlin said, "Everyone keeps saying it was easy. Damn, we've worked hard for five long months to earn this moment."

"Remember, we were only 12-8 during the regular season. No one took opener at Franklin County Stadium are 7 p.m. and 1 p.m.

Columbus will return to County Stadium, the following weekend of Saturday, June 4 and Sunday, June 5 for doubleheaders each date against the Baltimore Monuments, with games at 7 and 1 p.m. respectively. The first road travel for the club is June 11-12 at Chicago against the Chicago Storm.

The All Americans are in the Central Division of the American Professional Slo-Pitch League along with Cleveland, Cincinnati and Louisville. Participants in the Eastern Division are New York, New Jersey, Baltimore and Pittsburgh while the Midwest Division is comprised of Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and Minnesota (Minneapolis-St. Paul).

Season tickets are on sale at the club office, located at 5150 E. Main St., Room 215. Fans can also call the office at 864-4062 for an application. Tickets are on order and outlets are being formulated.

All-Tournament Cage Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Associated Press' 1977 Ohio boys high school basketball all-tournament selections made by a panel of sports writers:

CLASS AAA—Todd Penn and Sterling Williams, Columbus LindenMcKinley; Carter Scott and Fred Grisby, Barberton, and Richard Montague, Elyria. MVP—Penn.

CLASS AA—Bob Lowrie and Karl Morris, Cleveland Latin; Chris Taylor and Bruce Howard, Columbus Mifflin, and Ken Pothast, Ottawa-Glandorf. MVP—Lowrie.

USC Victorious In NCAA Swims

CLEVELAND (AP) — The waves in the Cleveland State University pool had not even calmed Saturday before Southern California star John Nabor sounded a warning to the rest of the collegiate swimming fraternity.

"A couple of us won't be back next year, but USC will be," the lanky Olympian said. "This is a team and that's the way the Trojans look at things every year."

Those jet-powered Trojans, led by the senior trio of Nabor, Joe Bottom and Rod Strachan, battered their way to a fourth straight NCAA swimming championship last weekend at Cleveland State, outscoring second-place Alabama 385-204.

Six of the 12 National League teams will have new managers this season.

"I'm very concerned about forcing tempo," he said Sunday at a news conference. "I'd much rather slow a team down than speed it up. You can't force someone to play. There's no 30-second clock in basketball."

There is, however, the fast break — and Smith acknowledges, "We like to do that a lot."

McGuire will be looking for that, as well as North Carolina's storied "four-corner offense." And it IS an offense, despite some opinion to the contrary.

"People have misconceptions about the four corners," said Smith. "They think it's a stall. But actually, it isn't. It's designed to get easy layups, draw fouls and tire out the other team's defense, as well as run out the clock." "It really opens up a lot of scoring opportunities," added guard John Kuester. "We've been very effective with it — especially with Phil Ford, the best guard in America."

The spread formation, with a player in each corner of the court and Ford orchestrating in the center, has provided a lot of anguish for the Tar Heels' opponents this year. Nevada-Las Vegas was hurt by it Saturday when North Carolina got a lot of back-door baskets by freshman Mike O'Koren, who wound up with 31 points.

Ford, considered by many to be the best guard ever to play for the Tar Heels, has been directing the formation in recent games despite an injured right elbow. He sustained a hyperextended elbow in the East Regionals against Notre Dame and reinjured it during a practice last week.

"The elbow feels great," Ford said Sunday. "I thought that after Saturday's game I'd wake up today with some pain. But it seems to be okay."

While trying to hold Ford in check, the Warriors also will be attempting to direct the game's pace with their paralyzing ballcontrol offense.

With the start of the regular major league baseball season less than 10 days off, the weekend produced a flurry of activity off the field as several clubs shuffled their personnel.

In a major deal, the Oakland A's continued cleaning house from their world championship team of 1974. They swapped fleet outfielder Claudell Washington to the Texas Rangers in exchange for pitcher Jim Umberger, infielder Rodney Scott and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Several veterans, including Rico Petrocelli of the Boston Red Sox and Earl Williams of the Montreal Expos, also were dropped as the teams pared their rosters to get ready for opening day.

Petrocelli, a 33-year-old third baseman, was released by the Red Sox after being with the team 12 seasons.

Williams, a catcher-first baseman, was placed on waivers by Montreal for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release. The 28-year-old Williams, National League Rookie of the Year in 1971, has seen service with Atlanta, Baltimore and Montreal.

Oakland also placed pitcher Dick Bosman on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release and sent pitcher Blue Moon Odom to its San Jose farm club in the Pacific Coast League. The A's announced that catcher Jeff Newman had signed a one-year contract and also optioned pitchers Craig Mitchell and Brian Abraham, catcher Dennis Haines and second baseman Mike Weathers to the minors.

The Houston Astros completed a trade with San Francisco, sending second baseman Rob Andrews and a player to be named later to the Giants for outfielder Willie Crawford and infielder Rob Sperring.

The New York Yankees dealt outfielder Kerry Dineen from their Syracuse farm in the International League to Philadelphia for infielder Sergio Ferrer of the Phils' Oklahoma City farm in the American Association.

The Yanks also announced that relief pitcher Sparky Lyle and switch-hitting outfielder Roy White had signed three-year contracts. Lyle's pact was estimated at $400,000 and White's at $375,000.

The St. Louis Cardinals signed right-handed pitcher Bob Forsch to a three-year contract, leaving outfielder Bake McBride as their only unsigned player.

The Detroit Tigers trimmed three players from their roster, sending them to their minor league base at Tigertown in Lakeland, Fla., for reassignment. They were second baseman Jerry Manuel, outfielder Marvin Lane and rookie pitcher Bruce Taylor.

The expansion Seattle Mariners cut 11 players, asking waivers on infielder Kurt Bevacqua and pitcher Jim Minshall for the purpose of obtaining unconditional releases. They placed veteran pitcher Pete Broberg on waivers for reassignment purposes.

Ken Singleton, Baltimore's leading hitter for the past two seasons, signed a five-year contract. Terms were not disclosed.

Veteran utilityman Terry Crowley, a member of Baltimore's 1970 world championship team, was put on waivers by the Orioles.

It is showdown time in the Patrick and Adams Divisions as the National Hockey League season enters its final week before the playoffs.

Tuesday night in Philadelphia, the first-place Flyers and the New York Islanders, two points back, will battle for the top spot in the Patrick Division. Wednesday night, the Buffalo Sabres entertain the Boston Bruins, who trail them by one point in the Adams Division.

The big matchups were set up Sunday when the Islanders defeated the Cleveland Barons 6-3 and the Bruins blanked the Pittsburgh Penguins 3-0 while Philadelphia and Buffalo were idle.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Black Hawks took a firmer hold on second place in the Smythe Division and eliminated the New York Rangers in the Patrick Division with a 5-3 triumph, the Montreal Canadiens whipped the Detroit Red Wings 6-0 and the Washington Capitals beat the Toronto Maple Leafs 7-4.

The New York Mets open their home season against the St. Louis Cardinals on April 12.

Knight, Reds Stop Yanks, 4-3

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The hottest bats in Florida and Arizona this spring are wielded by rookies.

Infielder Ray Knight, trying to earn a spot with Cincinnati's world champions, singled home the winning run in the 10th inning as the Reds edged the New York Yankees 4-3 in an exhibition game that was referred to as the fifth game of the 1976 World Series.

"Game's over," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson recalled saying aloud when Knight stepped to the plate. "The hottest stick in Florida is up."

Knight leads the Reds with 18 hits and a .450 batting average, but that pales next to the .657 mark of San Francisco outfielder Randy Elliott, who drove in three runs with his second and third spring homers as the Giants outslugged the San Diego Padres 12-9.

As the Reds and Yankees hooked up for the first time since last October, Don Gullett was a primary part of the scene. Only the uniform had changed.

"It was different," admitted Gullett, who played out his option with the Reds and signed a six-year, $2 million contract with the Yankees. He pitched six innings and left with the score tied 3-3.

Another rookie, Boston pitcher Bob Stanley, won a spot on the Red Sox' 25-man regular season roster by hurling five strong innings in a 10-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

"This is great, just great," said Stanley, a 22-year-old right-hander with just 69 minor league games to his credit who pitched in the Class AA Eastern League a year ago.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson horned in on the rookies. The veteran third baseman belted a grand slam homer as the Orioles outlasted the Texas Rangers 12-8.

Sore-shouldered Wayne Garland, Cleveland's $2 million free agent pitcher, made his second spring appearance and first since March 10, allowing four hits and two runs in two innings as the Indians bowed to the Chicago Cubs 9-0.

Elsewhere:

—Wayne Simpson worked seven strong innings as the California Angels routed a split squad of San Diego Padres 10-2.

—Darrell Porter's two-run triple in the 10th inning gave the Kansas City Royals a 5-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

—Bob Boone's three-run homer and successive pinch homers by Ollie Brown and Jerry Martin helped the Philadelphia Phillies defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4.

—Keith Hernandez, batting .400 in the spring, homered as the St. Louis Cardinals downed the Chicago White Sox 3-1.

—Mike Marshall, making his first exhibition appearance, was tagged for five hits and three runs but the Atlanta Braves edged the New York Mets 6-5 on Brian Asselstine's 10th-inning double and an error.

—The Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Houston Astros 5-4 on John Hale's eighth-inning triple.

—Don Money's three-run homer powered the Milwaukee Brewers past the Oakland A's 5-1.

—Sam Mejias' 10th-inning single gave the Montreal Expos a 3-2 triumph over the Toronto Blue Jays, and Craig Reynolds' tie-breaking single enabled the Seattle Mariners to nip Arizona State University 5-4.

Chicago Bulls Rip Cavaliers, 95-90

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Bulls' charge into the National Basketball Association playoffs continues in high gear.

The Bulls, considered dead after stumbling to a 2-14 record in the opening month of the season, reached a milestone on their comeback trail Sunday night when they beat the injury-riddled Cleveland Cavaliers 95-90 before a crowd of 19,757 at Chicago Stadium.

IHL Teams End Season, Eye Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International Hockey League Turner Cup post-season playoffs begin Tuesday when the Toledo Goaldiggers collide with the Columbus Owls.

In a windup to regular season action Sunday night, the Saginaw Gears coasted to a 7-2 victory over Flint on four goals and two assists from Marcel Comeau. The Gears captured the Huber trophy for the IHL team with the best season record — 40-27-11.

The victory also assured the Gears of a North Division title, and the Gallagher trophy for the best record in the North.

Jim Kolfelt, the IHL scoring leader, made both Flint tallies, as his team finished its season at 35-33-10.

In Toledo, Ian McPhee and Ed Kenty scored a pair of goals early in the first period as Toledo jumped to a 3-0 lead and held on for a 7-4 victory.

Toledo ended the regular season at 40-31-7 for 87 points. The Wings finished off at 38-27-13 and 89 points for second place in the IHL Northern Division.

In Dayton, Al Dumba's three goals in the first period overwhelmed Port Huron 7-1.

The victory gave the Gems, 35-38-5, with 75 points, a secondplace finish in the Southern Division, with the playoff berths undetermined. The Flags, 27-438 and 62 points, finished fifth in the Northern Division.

Len Fontaine scored Port Huron's single goal at 2:30 of the first period.

In Fort Wayne, the Fort Wayne Komets ended their season with a 5-4 victory over the Columbus Owls.

The score was tied one-all at the end of the first period and two all at the end of the second before the Komets exploded for the victory. Fort Wayne ends the season 32-36-10. Columbus finishes 28-35-15.

Marsh Wins Heritage

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Graham Marsh was almost apologetic about it, and he had a word of sympathy for distraught Tom Watson.

"It's happened to me. I know how it feels," the 33-year-old Australian said after Watson's swing again collapsed in the run down the stretch and he let Marsh escape with the title in the Sea Pines Heritage Golf Classic.

Watson, who now has failed to secure a victory after leading two tournaments in as many weeks, fled the Harbour Town Golf Links immediately after his bitterly disappointing finish Sunday and wasn't available for comment.

"He didn't say anything," said Ben Crenshaw, Watson's playing partner over the last 18 holes. "What could he say?"

Comment, perhaps, wasn't necessary. The look of anguish that crossed his freckled face immediately after he'd pumped one into the water on the 14th hole told it all. He covered his eyes with his hands and ducked his head. He'd done it again. He'd started the final 18 holes with a commanding, four-stroke lead, blew that in four holes then, from a tie, made double bogey five and trailed by two shots.

It was doubly disappointing to the former British Open champ in that he'd done much the same the week before, blowing a two-stroke lead over the last nine holes.

This time he shot three-over-par 74 in the final round and lost to Marsh by a single shot. Marsh, dubbed "Swampy" by his good friend Bruce Devlin, had a two-under-par 69 over the testing, 6,655-yard layout and finished with a 273 total. Watson scored 274.

Marsh, 33, has collected more than two dozen titles in Britain, Europe, Australia and the Far East, won more than $185,000 in non-American events last season and is making his first try at the American tour.

And he's finished fifth three times, sixth and 12th in the five starts before this tournament.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR TUESDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Launching into uncharted seas may take you farther than expected, into waters too deep for comfort. Check before going beyond your depth.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): You should be able to move ahead more optimistically now. Involvement with someone who has been draining your sources lately seems to be ending.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Keep things moving, and with well-planned design. A "wait-and-see" attitude could only stifle enthusiasm on this somewhat problematic day.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You could launch a new venture now if you have given it careful thought. A fine day for promoting, advertising your wares; in general, to press on to the better things.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't split hairs when it comes to making important moves or decisions. Neither so diversify your activities that you accomplish tellingly in none.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Excellent planetary influences. Indications are that something very pleasant is about to happen. You should be in fine spirits now, inspired on all fronts.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Distant interests take the spotlight. You may now be able to take a trip that was postponed or you may hear some excellent news from afar.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Even if balked in a certain plan, don't let yourself be pushed into a corner. Have alternatives ready. You are good at improvisation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Your morale should get a boost now. Some new light is shed on old problems and you find more persons responding to your efforts. A brighter outlook indicated.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Seeking an easy solution to a complex problem may only compound the complications. Face up to it, tackle it as you should, and there'll be no sorry aftermath.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may have to look "behind the scenes" for the answer you're seeking. Some are not telling all they know but, even though they may be highly motivated, you SHOULD know the whole story.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. Some things you took for granted are apt to be otherwise but, through the good offices of an interested friend, you can obtain a desired goal.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly enthusiastic individual, always intensely active, and with an imagination that visualizes lofty goals — which you CAN attain. Your courage, integrity and gift of leadership are outstanding, and you make fine executives and organizers; are also astute in handling finances — IF you do not act too impulsively. You are highly intuitive, and your love of beauty and color may lead you into the art world — where you could attain great success. Aside from your talent for painting, your creative abilities extend to the areas of music and writing. With your dynamic

Views On Television
LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a one-hour display of kamikaze programming, CBS tonight airs a news special on Rhodesia and the guerrilla war there. ABC, in the same hour, displays the big Oscar awards show of Hollywood. Millions will see the Oscar caper. But I suspect the number of viewers who'll see CBS' "Who's Got a Right to Rhodesia" could hold a mass rally on the tip of a ratings point. Which is a pity.

The show, written and reported by Irv Drasin, isn't all that good. It leaves a lot to be desired. But it should be seen.

It's valuable in that it recaps at length a major story that too often zips on and off newscasts and newspapers like a pesky mosquito on a summer night.

As reporter Drasin says at show's start, the report "is about a new Africa — and an old struggle," the fight by Rhodesian black nationalists to free the nation from its rule by the white minority.

If you see the show's early scenes of troops, military helicopters, door gunners, all ready for a firefight, you may do a Vietnam flash, wonder if and how soon we'll be in another war that started small.

Drasin notes of Rhodesia's troubles: "Inevitably, Americans must face the hard decisions that no longer can be ignored — decisions, both political and moral, about war and racial injustice."

But having said that, he doesn't get down to the nitty-gritty, namely under what circumstances might the United States get involved in Rhodesia's war, directly or indirectly.

Instead, he retells in narrative and interviews the tale of modern Rhodesia, a nation of six million blacks and 275,000 whites, a nation of long and enduring racial discrimination by whites in power.

We see familiar sights of determined whites grimly vowing to stay, to fight when necessary, to maintain the paternalistic status quo, the only white voices of conscience being a lawyer who is leaving Rhodesia and a Catholic bishop later accused of aiding terrorists.

On the black side, we see the poor housing, hear from the victims of discrimination, see the "Europeans only" signs and are constantly reminded of what Drasin calls "The bewildering network of laws that control his (the African's) life and his livelihood..."

Black nationalist leaders declare their goal is to free their people from white rule. Prime Minister Ian Smith insists the issue in Rhodesia is communism.

Scant attention is given military logistics, such as whether Russia supplies the guerrillas with weapons. Or where Rhodesian troops got their combat wares, even though Drasin points out: Tonight's program is too simplistic, doesn't show how Rhodesia's troubles could affect America's interests.

But it's a fair primer that'll start many thinking and reading more seriously about the whys of that back-page war in a front-page country.

Grain Program No Big Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grain-reserve program Agriculture Secretary Bob S. Bergland is to announce this week would cover only slightly more wheat than is already off the market under the present price-support loan program, aides estimate. Bergland has said he expects that "the extended-reseal program" will attract 300 million bushels of wheat, or slightly more than 14 per cent of last year's record crop of 2.1-billion bushels.

The program will be voluntary, both to bring the grain in and to take it out of the farmer-controlled stocks, Bergland says.

The government's actions will be to encourage or discourage farmers' actions. If one doesn't go along with that, "he's perfectly free to gamble," the secretary says.

Rice may be included when the program's announced. But for the certainty, wheat, here's how it would work:

—A farmer has wheat on hand that he can't sell, doesn't want to sell at the current prices or wants to use as collateral for a cash loan now and sell it later to redeem the loan. He decides to get in the reserve.

—The farmer would sign a three-year contract with USDA, agreeing to certain conditions and penalties, put his wheat in storage under seal and get a cash loan of $2.25 a bushel. Later, he would also get 20 cents a bushel for storage costs and any other incentives Bergland decides are necessary to keep the stocks up.

—If the wheat price, which averaged $2.44 a bushel at the farm Feb. 15, reached $3.15 in the open market, the incentives would be withdrawn.

—If the price kept climbing to $3.94, USDA would call in the loan.

"He or she doesn't have to sell at that price," Bergland said. "Anyone can gamble on a higher price if they want, but at $3.94 they can go to the bank and get some money to redeem the loan, because we want our money back at that point."

If rice were included, the loan rate would be $6.19 per 100 pounds, the incentives to store would be withdrawn at $8.67 and the loans would be called in at $10.83. The average rice price on Feb. 15 was $6.74.

As of a month ago, with a surplus of about 1.1 billion bushels throughout the country and weak demand, about 285 million bushels of wheat were under loan — nine times the Feb. 29, 1976, amount.

About 11.77 hundredweight of rice was under loan.

The present program, with the same loan rate, provides for 11-month loans.

If the loan isn't repaid by then, the government ends up owning the grain — which Bergland wants to avoid.

Because of that, he also said he does not intend to increase the wheat and rice loan rates for the 1977 crops this week when he boosts soybean and corn rates. The market price is too close to the loan level already, he said.

MYSTERY ACTION — John Michalski is Sherlock Holmes, super-sleuth, and Allison Moore portrays Alice in the Paul Elliott and Bernard Jay production of the thriller drama, "Sherlock Holmes," to be staged at the Ohio Theatre in Columbus Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 31, April 1 and 2. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. The Sir Arthur Conan Doyle chiller has been delighting audiences for more than 75 years. Tickets available at Ohio Theatre box office, Columbus Sears stores and OSU's Drake Union.

foodway to fun - fitness

Each year in March, The American Dietetic Association asks all of us to take a fresh look at our eating habits. As the slogan of National Nutrition Week points out: Nutrition... Foodway to Fun and Fitness. A balanced diet and regular exercise can help you enjoy life more. As your food merchant, Kroger joins ADA in urging consumers to increase nutritional awareness and to shop wisely for food.

A few decades back, consumers had only a few hundred items in their food store.

Most fresh fruits and vegetables and even fresh meat were often not available for several months of the year. In contrast, your modern Kroger store carries about 12,000 items year-round for your shopping choice... providing all the variety, nutrition and enjoyable eating your family needs.

Get more nutrition for your food shopping dollar. Check nutrition information on labels. Plan your meals to include items from the Basic Four Food Groups: Milk and Dairy Products; Meat and Fish; Fruits and Vegetables; Enriched or Whole-grain Breads and Cereals.

Plan meals ahead, shop wisely, eat right and exercise regularly. Life is more fun when you're healthy!
